

Fall Q1 Summative Performance Task:

We have looked at the choices characters make in real life and literature when facing challenges. Some of the short stories we've read focus on common internal obstacles faced by these characters. Examine all the short stories, identify a common internal obstacle and write an essay in which you analyze the effectiveness of the characters' choices in overcoming the obstacle. Create a strong unifying element and support your argument with specific supporting evidence.